BIOGRAPHY

Clare began her career working in civic nonprofit organizations, with an emphasis on public policy and democratic institutions. As a result of her exposure to the lawmaking process, Clare decided to shift careers and obtained her J.D. at Wake Forest University School of Law, where she was a member of the Appellate Advocacy Clinic and National Moot Court Team. Clare's passion for tactfully navigating complex conflicts stems in part from her prior experiences and the training she gained through an M.A. degree in Diplomacy and International Commerce. Clare works with individuals, businesses, governments, and advocacy groups to pursue creative resolutions to disputes through civil litigation in state and federal courts at both the trial and appellate level.
