“I practice law as it was historically -- with honor. That is, with the unfettered, and paramount objective being the use of my professional skills to fully represent and counsel my clients, and to provide for their legal and moral rights and protections, not as a money-driven enterprise.”

BIOGRAPHY

David's practice is primarily litigation involving employee issues which expand into areas of tort law actions against employers. He represents Fortune 500 companies and employers in the trucking, retail, construction, manufacturing and other industries. He is a frequent speaker to various human resource and employer/employee groups. David was a Captain in the United States Army and served as Chief Trial Counsel the United States Army, Judge Advocate General's Corps for the 3rd Infantry Division from 1983 to 1987.
